Be productive for the Lord!By dr FrankPlease note - this is not a 'productivity' book in the sense of books by Brian Tracy and others but a book on setting aside time to do the work of the Lord, spend time with the Lord, and be 'productive' in the little things of life. Rather than spend time wasting it a non-renewable resource, spend it wisely. Tremendous book and it isn't a book that you read one time and put on the shelf or if kindle reader, delete from your Kindle. At the end of the book is a summary for group study and/or self-study. A few take aways: 1. Risk for the Lord and trust in Him over self - very obvious but when you see how the Lord has moved in the Barnett's family and in those who they touched, it becomes very real. 2. Be diligent with thirty minutes 3. Start the day with the Lord - we all know this but too often something interferes with our quiet time. If you cannot be alone first thing, then on your commute, turn off everything including audio books, music, etc 4. To quote Joyce Meyer, "If you apply these principles, they will bring renewed purpose and inspiration to your life." 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Good Book By Teanacious I read this book very quickly. In my endless quest for self improvement I came across this book online and decided to add it to my bookshelf. It's written by a pastor named Tommy Barnett and outlines many ways to maximize the extremely limited time we have in our lives. I thought much of what was written in this book was incredibly insightful and could be applied to anyone's life. He speaks from the life experiences of a religious man who's devoted to his faith, but the principles outlined in the book can be applied to anyone's profession and life's pursuits. It's definitely one of the better self improvement books I've read recently. Nigel Nicholas 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. This is a book for making your life great in segments of 30 minutes and living a fulfilling life as a Christian.

Turn your fleeting minutes into defining moments. What can you do in 30 minutes? Have lunch? Watch television? Check Facebook? How about change your life? Why do some people achieve far more than others? We all get the same 24 hours in a day, yet a special few seem to have superhuman abilities when it comes to accomplishing great things in life. Tommy Barnett, a proven master at "getting things done," says the key to maximizing your productivity is to make use of small, manageable moments in your day—just 30 minutes at a time. In this remarkably practical book, Tommy shows how to begin a whole new life of fruitfulness. You'll see immediate results in all areas of your life, including:

- Purpose and values
- Personal goals
- Faith
- Character and attitude
- Dreams
- Career
- Relationships
- Marriage and family
- Church involvement and ministry

Why not change time from being your worst enemy to your everlasting friend? It all starts with the amazing things you can do in only a half hour. Through inspiring stories and biblical principles, discover how your downtime can have a major upside. Get going—you don't have a minute to lose!

Praise for The Power of a Half Hour: "Before reading this book, I never thought of seeing 30 minutes as a power-packed opportunity to improve my life. Pastor Barnett's half hour power principles have helped me strengthen my faith, become more productive, and connect with those I love with more intentionality. This book is as inspirational as it is practical, and I plan to use it as an integral part of my staff development program." —Lysa TerKeurst, New York Times bestselling author and president of Proverbs 31 Ministries

Tommy Barnett inspires people to be bold witnesses and fulfill Christ's commission. He accomplishes much for the kingdom. After reading this dynamic book, you'll understand why. His concept of "thirty minutes" can help you make the most of each day—in many areas—and enable you to have a positive influence on others.

I'm a pastor and have devoted my entire adult life to helping people connect with God and find better ways to live. I could fill up this book and more with all kinds of spiritual and practical ideas about what works in life and what doesn't. I think it would be good stuff, but I have one practical idea that I know from my own experience rises far above all the others. I admit it's not an overly unique concept, like the invention of the Internet, for example. However, it's an idea that has helped me realize success and great satisfaction in all aspects of my personal and professional life. I mean everything—from personal goals and dreams to marriage to raising a family to relationships to work. I believe the idea can change your life, though, as it has changed mine. Most importantly, it has helped me serve God and others more effectively. Trust me, my idea is not rocket science; in fact, it's so simple that anyone can understand and benefit from it. I believe the idea can change your life, though, as it has changed mine. I call it the power of a half hour. Many people think of a half hour as a minimal or meaningless gap in time, downtime to catch your breath between periods of major effort. But the truth is your half hours can determine the difference between success and failure. Your half hours direct and shape your future. You can literally change your world in thirty minutes. In the same way that your effect on the world is felt one life at a time, so is that effect delivered through the careful and thoughtful investment of your half hours. The beauty of this reality is that anyone can do it. You don't need a PhD, and you don't need a life coach to pull it off. All you need is to accept the idea, have a clear sense of your God-given purpose, examine your activity patterns, sensitize yourself to your time choices, and start taking advantage of the power of a half hour. Every half hour in your day is a power-loaded resource. Your choice of how to spend those minutes is the focus of this book, which I intend to make a practical conversation about a resource that we misunderstand, abuse, take for granted, and ignore. I want to help you become the person God intends you to be and accomplish His plans for your life. And in order to do that, you need to use your small increments of time wisely; not just the big slices of time that are devoted to both routine daily activities and major life events. I agree with Harvey Mackay who said, "Time is free, but it's priceless. You can't own it, but you can use it. You can't keep it, but you can spend it. Once you've lost it, you can never get it back." I know that it's not easy to find even a "free" hour in the world we live in. I also have learned that it's difficult to accomplish a great deal in a quarter hour; especially if you need to communicate graciously and genuinely with another person within that time frame. But a half hour; it works!

Claiming the Power of a Half Hour is how we will approach turning your half hours into life-changing blocks of time. In the seven parts of this book, I will outline how seizing the power of a half hour can make such a difference in these major areas: Impact; Purpose and goals; Faith; Character; Dreams; Relationships; Advancing God's kingdom. To help you remember key themes in this book, each chapter contains a Half-Hour Power Principle. By the way, researchers tell us that most people never finish reading the books they start. Because I think there's too much helpful information in these pages for you to abandon the content before you get to the end, let me suggest that you do four simple but practical things as you read this book. First, read the book in half-hour spaces in your schedule. Each of the chapters in the book is short enough to read easily in a half hour. You might want to have more than one block during a day when you read the book, but start this practice as you engage with this book. In addition, at the back of this book you will find a Personal Power of a Half Hour Action Plan. This plan is set up to help you, over a thirty-day period, fully incorporate The Power of a Half Hour concepts into all major areas of your life. You have heard that it takes about a month to establish a new habit? I urge you to use this thirty-day plan to make the power of a half hour a habit you will never break! Second, if something strikes you as personally helpful, jot down notes about changes you need to make. Too often we are so intent on getting through a book that we forget some of the useful insights or challenges it provided. Third, pray that God will help you to implement the things you discover in these pages (or in your related reflections) that will improve your life experience. Fourth, and finally, express a commitment to someone you know and trust that you are going to integrate these simple changes into your lifestyle. Ask that person to check up on you once or twice a month to see how intentional you are being with your half hours. That simple act of accountability will help prevent the reading of this book from being just another helpful but forgotten task. (You may also wish to find mutual encouragement in learning the half-hour concepts by attending a small-group discussion. A guide for such a study is included at the end of the book.)

I've been practicing these principles so long that I can now say I am a product of my half hours. I don't always get it right, but I'm very much aware of the gift of life and the value of time. My half hours; the ones I carefully plan, as well as the unplanned ones I discover; are committed to doing His will in my life because I want to serve our God and others. I've been practicing these principles so long that I can now say I am a product of my half hours. If you get your half hours right, God will not only change your life but also use you to alter the lives of the people and organizations you influence. I sincerely believe the future is not going to be defined by those who rely on their intelligence, their talent, or their good looks. Instead, the future is dependent on the choices made by God's people in the time that He has placed at our disposal.
