

[Online library] Why Sell Tacos in Africa?: 16 life-changing business strategies you can use anywhere, from the man who turned $400 into $200 million

Why Sell Tacos in Africa?: 16 life-changing business strategies you can use anywhere, from the man who turned $400 into $200 million

Paul Oberschneider

*ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#299122 in eBooks 2016-10-05 2016-10-03 File Name: B01LXQR6AH | File size: 41.Mb

Paul Oberschneider : Why Sell Tacos in Africa?: 16 life-changing business strategies you can use anywhere, from the man who turned $400 into $200 million before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Why Sell Tacos in Africa?: 16 life-changing business strategies you can use anywhere, from the man who turned $400 into $200 million:

5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. I highly recommend it! I just finished this excellent read on ...By W C.Tacos in Africa, I highly recommend it! I just finished this excellent read on entrepreneurship in one sitting. The author is spot on with his understanding of overcrowded markets, un-served need, first movers, the value of relationships and the discipline to not fail due to business monuments to one's own ego. This fellow has "been there...done that", and clearly has the scar tissue to prove it. He sounds like the "Wolf of Wall Street" and Trammell Crow in the same person. There is no B-School rant here, where some professor who never did anything just invents names for every aspect of human enterprise. This is great sage wisdom from a guy with real experience. I disagree with him, however, on one thing. Pigs don't get slaughtered. In East Texas we say, Pigs get fat...Hogs get slaughtered. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Road Map for Success By James Wenzel I highly recommend this book for anyone who aspires to be an entrepreneur. This book tells the story about seeing an opportunity, and pursuing it relentlessly, while building a team and friends along the way. This book could be the road map for your goal of making your mark in what ever field that you may aspire to be a success in. Nothing is guaranteed in any business journey, but if you apply the lessons taught here, you will be well on your way to a Successful Attempt at creating your business dream. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A great primer to read and re-read By Real time This is a great little book full of common sense advice. It could be a gift for the recent graduate or the budding entrepreneur alike. The advice is simple and straightforward, and applies to life equally as well as to business. Any ambitious person pursuing a new venture would do well to read it and re-read it until it is completely committed to memory.

16 Start-Up Strategies for Entrepreneurs What is a self-made man or woman? Ever thought about it? Success is not a straight-line deal. There is no A-to-Z path, and there are no magic beans that will carry you upward overnight. Have you ever wondered how to start, scale up, build teams, and flourish in an uncontested market? I can tell you. I did it. In 1992, I landed in Estonia with $400 in my pocket. There, I discovered a truth that changed my life and the way I conducted business: You can make a lot of money as an entrepreneur by moving decisively in blue-sky markets - markets where you face very little competition and the tide can carry you to riches. Over the next decade and a half, I built a portfolio of businesses worth $200 million. Now, I want to share the paths that led me to success, passing on my knowledge to you. In Why Sell Tacos in Africa? I explain sixteen principles that allowed me to drive such tremendous growth. May you, too, find a blue-market and watch your business soar. You'll learn about my business ethics and my tips for successful real estate investment and real estate sales. www.pauloberschneider.com Business Start-Up, Entrepreneurship, Emerging Markets, Business Ethics, Real estate investments Real estate sales Investments Real Estate

From the Back Cover It's hard to find tacos in Africa. What is a self-made man or woman? Ever thought about it? Success is not a straight-line deal. There is no A-to-Z path, and there are no magic beans that will carry you upward overnight. Have you ever wondered how to start, scale up, build teams, and flourish in an uncontested market? I can tell you. I did it. In 1992, I landed in Estonia with $400 in my pocket. There, I discovered a truth that changed my life and the way I conducted business: You can make a lot of money as an entrepreneur by moving decisively in blue-sky markets - markets where you face very little competition and the tide can carry you to riches. Over the next decade and a half, I built a portfolio of businesses worth $200 million. Now, I want to share the paths that led me to success, passing on my knowledge to you. In Why Sell Tacos in Africa? I explain sixteen principles that allowed me to drive such tremendous growth. May you, too, find a blue-market and watch your business soar. pauloberschneider.com About the Author Paul Oberschneider is a seasoned startup entrepreneur and property financier who has personally built businesses worth over $200 million. Since 1992, he has helped start a bank credit department, founded a mortgage company, and built the largest single-branded real estate company across five countries in Central Europe. He also developed a portfolio of shopping centers and hypermarkets in Eastern Europe, constructing over two million square feet of retail space. Paul retired, aged 49, before the financial crisis of 2008. Over the last two years, he's grown a chain of nineteen fast food restaurants in London and is involved in the Oxford entrepreneur community, where he serves as a mentor for startup entrepreneurs and as a speaker. Paul's philosophy of business is simple: to be a successful entrepreneur, touch as many lives as possible by creating companies in uncontested markets where employees, customers, and communities are all winners. Join Paul for more valuable insights, articles and video courses at www.pauloberschneider.com.